Three Shots in the Dark Mr. Tony Pisa

Three Shots in the Dark is the autobiography of Tony Pisa...A man who was in the wrong place at the wrong time. A man sentenced to death and to death Row for a murder he did not commit. A man who vowed to prove his innocence. These are clichés we hear all the time. But Tony Pisa took their meanings to a new level. Pisa once good naturedly dubbed the least likely to attend college by friends and family, became the first Massachusetts inmate to attain a Bachelor's Degree while incarcerated. He then studied law voraciously and hooked up with a prominent Boston Criminal Attorney John Cavicchi. While he pursued and won his own freedom. Tony also became part of a the legal team that won and eye-popping 101 million dollar judgment from the US Government for four men who were found to have been knowingly framed for murder by the FBI. This included his death row acquaintance and good friend Louie Greco. Pisa exposed and helped put away Lenny Paradiso, a Notorious serial killer, and got to know the man many regard as the most famous serial killer of all time. Tony explains how he concluded that Albert DeSalvo was not the Boston Strangler...and who he is convinced was the killer. And there is more to this improbable story...much more. because as yet another cliché holds, "Truth is stranger than fiction."
